I feel very strongly that relaxing the current FCC standards for prime time broadcasting and allowing more inappropriate language and nudity is a step in the wrong direction for our society. I am amazed at what we allow to be presented at present and would rather see MORE restrictions than fewer being applied.

Are we trying to become the new Sodom and Gomorrah?

Perhaps a better method for reducing the backlog of complaints would be adopting even MORE stringent guidelines, then people would have less offensive content about which to complain.

Thank you for your time.
